

CALL FOR PAPERS

The AIS-Research Network Sociology of Education, with the sponsorship of the University of Palermo, the European Sociological Association (ESA) and the Italian Sociological Association (AIS), is organizing its International Mid-term Conference in Palermo on April 13 and 14, 2023.

The title of the conference is: Education as Commons. Democratic Values, Social Justice and Inclusion in Education.

Abstracts must be sent by November 30, 2022 on the following sub-topics:

- School and social inclusion
- Effects of New Public Management on research and teaching in Higher Education
- Education as commons in non-formal and informal education
- School-family relationships and conflicts
- The commodification of career guidance and orientation
- The platformisation of education
- Educational commons and technologies: risks and opportunities
- Teaching today. Profession, evaluation, training.
- Aims and effects of school evaluation
- School governance and policies
- Childhood and youth
- Migration and education
- Adult education
- The school and the reproduction of social and gender inequalities

To submit an abstract the following form must be filled in: <https://bit.ly/3xgRvaM>

More detailed information is available on the conference website:
<https://bit.ly/3EgKPgG>